1 Neminiah was a dragonshepherd who lived in the village of Chazaaher. 2 He had seven-thousand cattle, and they were the healthiest cattle in the entire world. 3 He had a wife named Heratha, and she bore him two daughters named Lohana and Kala. 4 Neminiah made untold riches off the selling of his cattle, for his cattle were the healthiest cattle in the entire world. Even King Nubashani would purchase Neminiah's cattle to use as a universal Mother for breeding, for they were the healthiest cattle in the entire world. 5 Dragons from all over the world purchased Neminiah's cattle, for they were the healthiest cattle in the entire world. 6 At night Neminiah would tuck his daughters into bed and then he would sleep in the fields. 7 He did this every night. In the morning, he would wake up to the sound of his cattle chewing on the lush grass in his pasture. 8 One night, after tucking in his daughters, he went to the fields and slept. 9 While Neminiah slept he had a vision. 9.1 He saw a cloaked figure carrying a giant scythe. The cloaked figure had no legs and seemed to float on air. The giant scythe glistened with the light of the moon. It emerged from a ghostly wood whispering the words "Death is walking along the road" over and over and over and over. 10 Then the cloaked figure disappeared and Neminiah saw his village burning in flames. 10.1 Neminiah saw the cloaked figure carrying the head of his wife, Heratha, on a silver platter. 11 Neminiah saw the cloaked figure dragging two bloody sacks. The cloaked figure then held the sack over a burning fire and out dropped the heads of his two daughters. The two heads burned. 12 The heads of Neminiah's daughters had an image of terror on their faces as they turned to ash. 13 Neminiah saw the cloaked figure dragging him on the ground. 13.1 Neminiah saw himself with a rope around his neck and bleeding heavily. His arms had been cut off. 13.2 Neminiah saw the cloaked figure throw his own body off the edge of a cliff. He heard himself screaming as fell to the ground. 14 Neminiah saw the cloaked figure turn towards him and utter "You will die." 15 Neminiah awoke breathing heavily. 15.1 It was dark outside, as it was in the vision. 16 He ran into the house and into the room of his daughters. They were still there fast asleep. He ran to his wife's room. Heratha was still there fast asleep. 17 Neminiah uttered a sigh of relief. It had only been a dream.
